COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

We have received several requests about action on zoning. Many other towns are finding themselves in embarrassing positions without some regulations to protect property owners from loss of value, due to some nearby situation that does not fit their locality. Perhaps we should consider this now.

The following committee has been selected to draw up some regulations for your consideration at the next regular town meeting: Addison Saunders, Ruth Carver Ames, Doris Lord, Richard Bryant, Paul Thurston, Thomas Brown and Henry Hastings. Any suggestions you may have may be mailed to this office and I will be very glad to pass them along to this committee for their consideration.

Let me again call to your attention that the Nov. 6 Election for President will be held at the Community Room. We hope this will make it more convenient for those who find the long stairway to Odeon Hall too much of a climb. We hope Bethel will make a real effort to vote on that day.

Thank you.

O. T. Rozelle

Presentation of the awards will be a highlight of the banquet at the annual meeting of NACAA in Houston, Texas.

Hagan has been county agricultural agent in Oxford county since June 23, 1952. He served Somerset county in the same position from Nov. 9, 1935 to October 15, 1943. This gives him more than 12 years of service as a county agent in Maine. He also served as Cumberland county 4-H club agent for two years and three months before going to Somerset county. He enlisted in the Seabees during the war and later worked for the Veterans' Administration giving on-the-job training in Maine.

The Oxford county agent attended the Extension summer school at Cornell University in 1944 and the Forage Refresher School at the University of Vermont in 1953.

Hagan has developed and forwarded constructive Extension programs in the two counties he has served. His Dairy Herd Improvement Association programs have been especially outstanding and his use of local farm leadership has been very effective. His work on improved forage programs for dairymen has brought results. He has had several Green Pastures in his county and has featured judging of forage programs for local dairymen and pasture men. He has made effective use of newspapers and radio in forwarding all his Extension Service programs.

He has a sharp sense of humor and a little bit of a twinkle in his eye. He is a true brother's keeper and the right of his neighbors.

V. A. NEWS LETTER

Veterans separated from active service since September 4, 1956, will NOT have 120 days in which to apply for five-year term nonconvertible GI Insurance; they will have ONLY until December 31, 1956.

M. L. Stoddard, Manager, Veterans Administration Center, Togus, Maine, said the new application deadline was set by the recently enacted Servicemen's and Veterans' Survivor Benefits Act (Public Law 881, 84th Congress).

Before this law was enacted, Stoddard said, eligible veterans had 120 days from separation in which to apply for the post-service five-year term nonconvertible policy.

The new law ends issuance of this insurance effective January 1, 1957, and thereby establishes December 31, 1956, as the deadline for application, even though less than 120 days have elapsed since separation, Stoddard said.

Veterans eligible for this insurance are those who were ordered into active service for 31 days or more since June 27, 1950.

Eligible veterans separated from service since last September 4, who wish to apply for the insurance on or before December 31, were advised by Stoddard to make sure their applications are accompanied by the proper premium.

He further advised eligible veterans to make certain their applications are received by VA by December 31, or are postmarked on or before that date.

An application postmarked on or after January 1, 1957, will not be eligible for consideration under the law, Stoddard said.

No medical examination is required for this insurance.

Further information and assistance in filling out the application form are available from any VA contact office, Stoddard said.

HERE'S HOW TO CLEAN YOUR PLUMBING FIXTURES

By following a few simple rules, you can give your new plumbing fixtures extra years of usefulness and beauty, says the Plumbing Fixtures Manufacturers Association.

Wash your kitchen and bathroom fixtures regularly with soap and warm water. Many housewives have found that their new fixtures did not retain a bright finish by ignoring this simple advice.

Just as many others, however, have seen thousands of tiny marks on their clean surface by using harsh abrasive cleaners.

Never permit fruit or vegetables to drain on the surface of a fixture for any length of time. This is to prevent them from causing permanent stains. These stains can be removed by using a mild abrasive cleaner.

Conservation Farming In Oxford County

by Douglas L. Marston, God Conservation Service

The Oxford County Soil Conservation District tree-planters have planted approximately 84 acres of tree seedlings in a week and a half of tree planting. Additional planting will bring the total to 115 acres of tree planting this fall.

Those having had planting done on their land include the following: Fred Walker, Brownfield, 10 acres; Oxford County Soil Conservation District, 10 acres; Roger C. Dunn & Son, Brownfield, 13 acres; Town of Brownfield, 5 acres; Rupert Johnson of Denmark, 7 acres; Curlick Brothers of Bangor, 5 acres; Town of Dixfield, 10 acres; Town of Union, 10 acres; Town of Oxford, 10 acres; Dr. Robinson Park, 5 acres; and Richard Henderson, of Oxford, 5 acres.

We hope that many of you who are interested in tree planting will take time to observe some of these areas. We were very much pleased with the results we had in the burned over areas of Denmark and Brownfield that were planted this fall. The District's special "V" type planting style worked very well.

AIRPHOTOS USED TO SCALE PULPWOOD IN MAINE TEST

Dr. Harold E. Young, associate forester of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, is a co-author of an article published in the September issue of Photogrammetric Engineering. The article, "Airphoto Inventory of Pulpwood in Water Storage," suggests a practical application of airphoto interpretation techniques to determine the volume of pulpwood in the water storage areas used by many Maine pulp mills. Co-authors with Dr. Young are R. E. Lavery, a graduate of the University of Maine in forestry in 1937 and now supervisor of the wood survey group in the Research and Control Department of the Great Northern Paper Company; and E. G. Stocker, of the Soil Mechanics Laboratory at the University of Maine.

The latter is engaged in preparing soils engineering maps using photointerpretation techniques.

Present day methods of making inventories of pulp in booms and in storage areas are expensive and not too accurate. The large commercial users of pulpwood are aware of considerable losses as a result of water transportation and storage of the wood. Frequent inventories might detect the cause and determine the extent of these losses. The accuracy and speed of inventories made by means of interpreting airphotos may be the answer to this important industrial problem.

The authors state that this was a pioneering study but that the results indicate that such a method may be practical and economical.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Riverton, Wyoming, Ranger: "Increased reliance on the Federal government for services of every description has led to higher income taxes. These taxes have finally risen to a level where people are encouraged to cheat a little if the opportunity arises. The result, we fear, is a general weakening of the moral fiber of the great American people."

Bellingham, Wash. Herald: "The 'farm problem' has been with us for years. It has been aggravated by conditions of war and peace. But experts who do not want to keep it before the people as a political football regard the program now in effect as the most hopeful long-range solution yet offered for turning the farm business back to private enterprise farmers."

"Good Recipes for Maine Potatoes" are given in Maine Extension Bulletin 386 by that title. It's available for the asking from County Extension Service offices throughout Maine.
